

Serving the Community

Above: The Radium Hill swimming pool looking towards the entrance, kiosk and change rooms.

The 20 man dormitory was completely destroyed by fire in 1952. Some occupants were George, Cyril and Horton Kakoschke, Fred Jones and Les Lees. Most personal belongings were lost in the blaze. There weren't any fire fighting facilities at the time. Security 'banned' cameras from the field until 1956.

Below: Testing the blood samples of miner workers for abnormalities.

Sunday afternoon at the two-up school was very popular in the 'old camp' prior to 1954. The 'ringmasters' were big tough guys who enforced their law. Before 1953 there was no policeman. Ex-boxer Dave McKee was a ringmaster. He was later a member of Parliament for the Labor Party in South Australia for 17 years.

Inset: George Millings bottling soft drinks in his local aerated waters cool drink factory. 'Buy Millings and Save Shillings' was his sales pitch.

